WE PROPOSE A TOAST

TO ADVENTURES REMEMBERED STILL TO COME...

Just over 100 years ago, a Curtiss Mf-6-K Seagull “flying boat” named Northbird landed in Tongass Narrows, just outside our windows. Ever since that first flight to Alaska from the lower 48, Bush Aviation has been a central part of life in these parts. Even today, with hardscrabble populations living in remote villages and float camps—often with no roads between them—bush pilots keep communities connected with supplies as well as news from elsewhere.

Bush Pilots’ Lounge was created to celebrate the sense of community and way of life that Bush Aviation has made possible here in Alaska. Our hope is to continue in that same spirit, providing a place that fosters friendship and family around a warm meal. Perhaps a sense of wonder at our blessings here in Ketchikan. And of course, more than a few tall tales about adventures remembered and still to come.
